

Zero state:
None of the components are slected. The add sign gets darker on hover. Clicking the add will pop the builder.

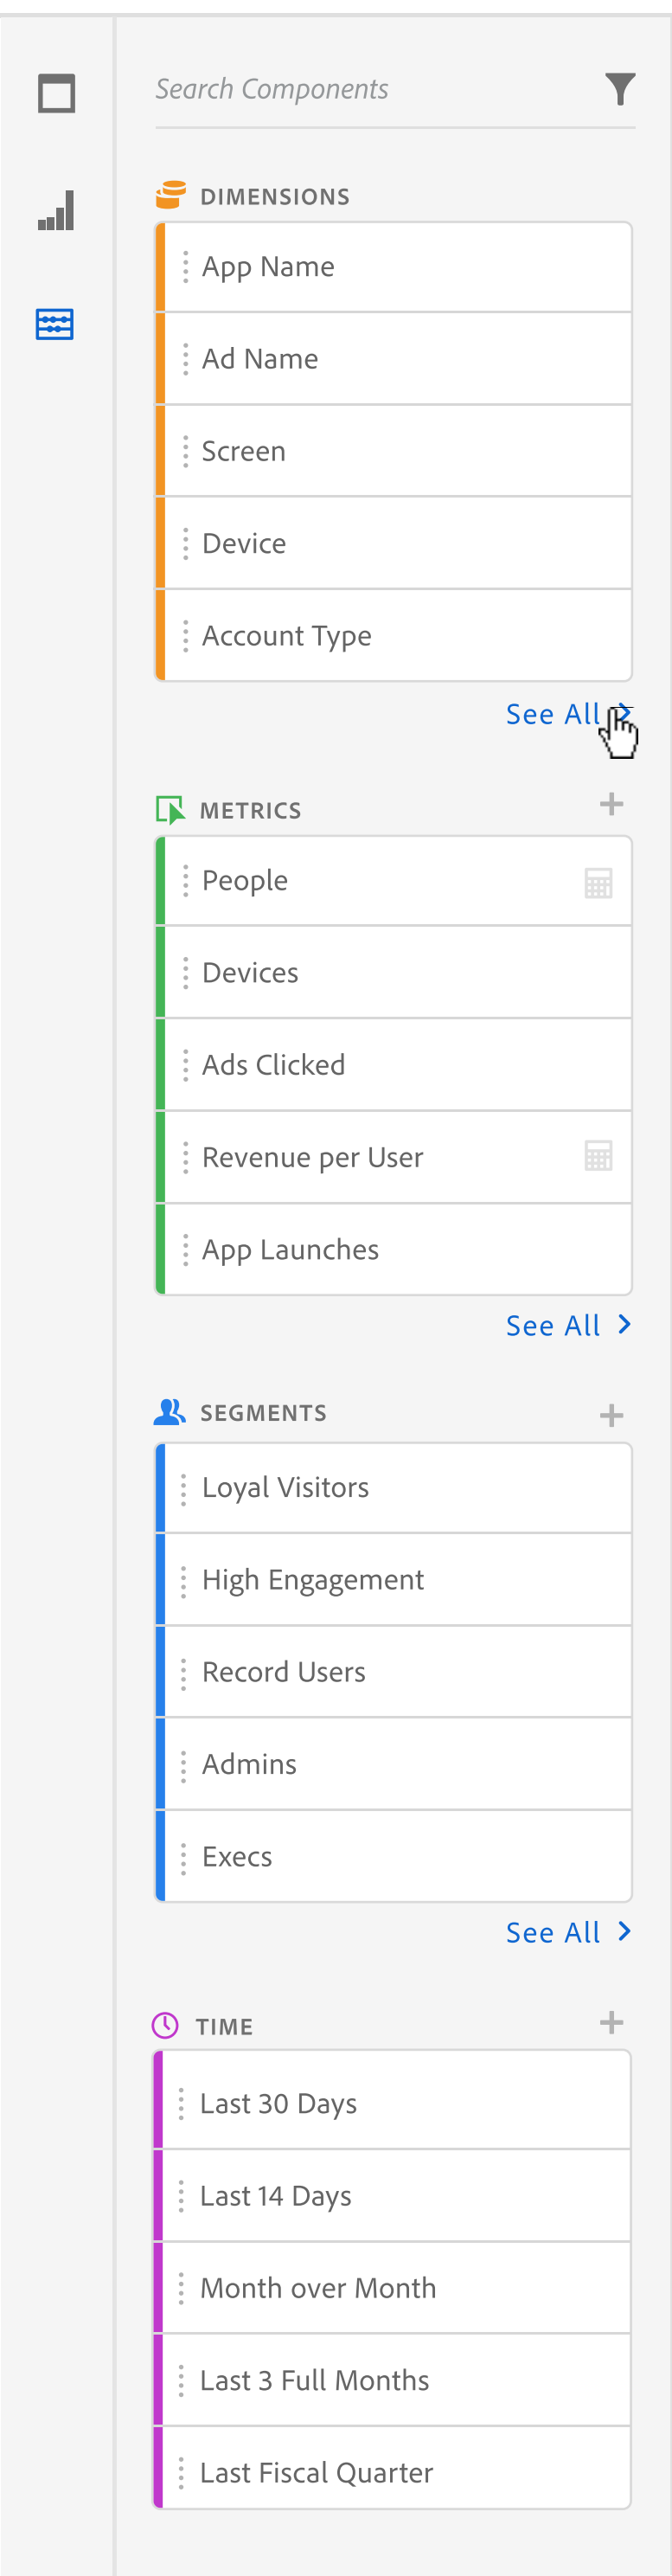

Components Selected:
The actions take the place of the search. The actions will be contextually surfaced, and the diabled ones greyed out)like they are now.

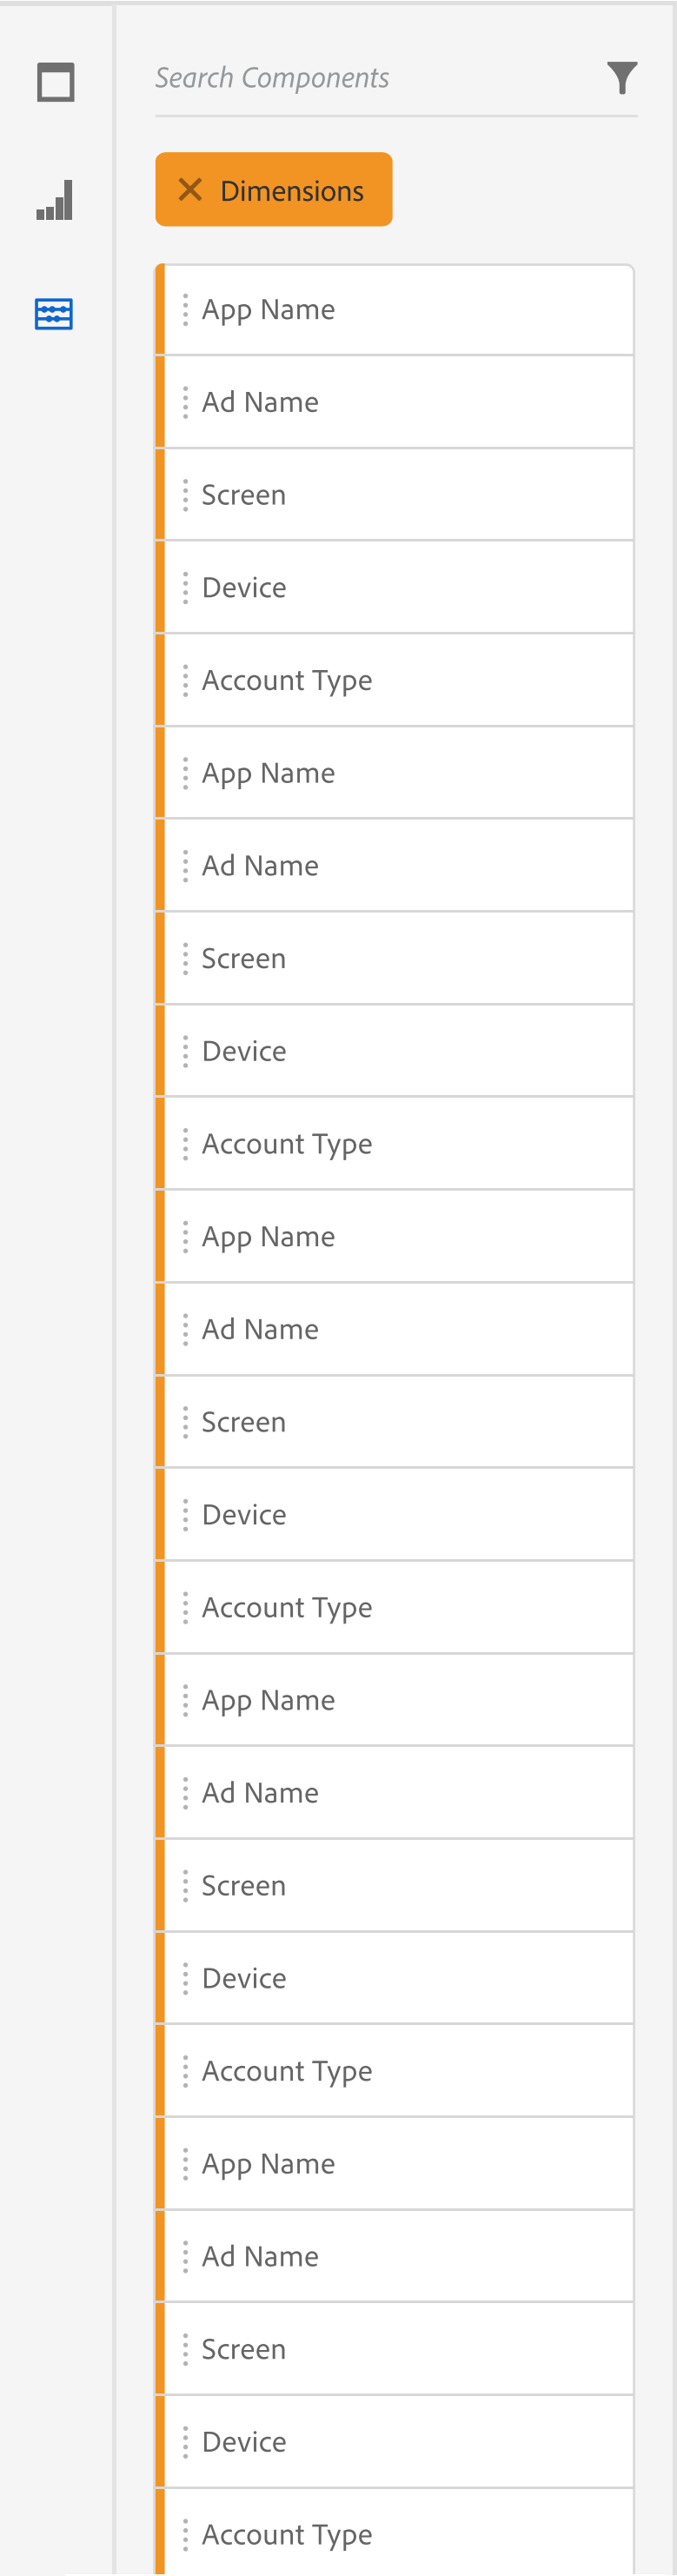

Deselect:
Clicking the x in the filter takes you back to the zero state. Everything is deselected and filter replaces actions again.

See all action:
The component title will still take users to full list, but will be grey with the main call to action being the "see all".

Component Filter:
Applies the component filter, the current pattern.

Component filter with selection:
Applies the component filter, and the actions and action filter appear above.
